The purpose of this operational policy is support staff experiencing domestic violence

Position Statement

We take our responsibilities to support staff experiencing domestic violence seriously and compassionately. Staff at our centre will be supported in a confidential and compassionate manner.

We define family violence as physical, sexual or psychological.

Issue Outline

It is estimated that more than half a million New Zealanders are victims of family violence. As a licensed early childhood education provider, we are continuously focussed on providing the safest, healthiest place for young children. We are mindful that we are also in a position to support parents and our staff through periods of difficulty. This policy is one way we can achieve this.

Detail

We will provide employees who are affected by domestic violence with up to ten days of paid leave. This is very similar to the way we provide sick leave and bereavement leave to our staff.

Our staff are entitled to family violence leave, including those on fixed-term agreements or casual contracts (where sick and/or bereavement leave is an agreed provision) as well as permanent employees.

All discussions and information around leave will be kept confidential, unless there is an immediate risk to someone's safety.

We recognise staff affected by domestic violence may need to take time off work to:

- attend court
- seek medical attention
- go to counselling
- relocate or seek alternative accommodation
- go to an appointment with the bank

- meet with their children's preschool / school
- seek any other support needed during a time of crisis.

Staff who have perpetrated family violence may need time off to attend court or stop violence programmes. We will provide you with the opportunity to have time off or flexible hours to allow you to seek help to stop using violence.

Domestic violence

Leave

Our staff can take up to ten days of paid domestic violence leave per year if they are affected by domestic violence, in addition to annual leave and sick leave, once they have completed six month's continuous service. Additional leave (paid or unpaid), if required, may be available at the Centre Manager's discretion.

We may ask for supporting information from the police, government departments, a health professional or a family violence support service. This will be at the discretion of the Centre Manager.

For employees supporting someone affected by family violence

Unpaid leave will be available for employees who are supporting someone affected by family violence, eg to go with them to court, to hospital or to mind children, at the discretion of the Centre Manager

For employees who have perpetrated family violence

Unpaid leave will be available for perpetrators who are committed to rehabilitation, at the discretion of the Centre Manager.

Short-term safety measures

A workplace safety plan will be developed between the staff member who is concerned about their safety at work due to domestic violence and the Centre Manager.

The staff member is entitled to request short-term flexible working arrangements, including:

- flexibility in work hours and days of work
- flexibility in duties at work
- flexibility in place of work.

Short-term flexible working requests will be considered urgently (within 10 working days or sooner).

The plan might also cover areas like:

- stopping the perpetrator from contacting the victim at work
- re-routing pay slips and changing bank accounts
- designating a person to monitor attendance and follow up in the event of unplanned absences, including an appropriate emergency contact or potential code word to use in the event of danger.
- Creating a "safe zone" of the victim and perpetrator of family violence are both employed in our business, to limit contact between the two at work

Long-term safety measures

- An employee who is affected by family violence is entitled to request a permanent change to their working hours or days of work.

Alignment with Other Policies

This policy aligns with:

- our Health and Safety at Work Act responsibilities
- our Employment Relations Act responsibilities.
